What is meant by google docs?

Google Docs is a free Web-based application in which documents and spreadsheets can be accessed from any computer with an Internet connection and a web browser. Google Docs is a part of a comprehensive package of online applications called Google Workspace. Users of Google Docs can import, create, edit and update documents and spreadsheets. Google Docs lends itself to collaborative projects in which multiple users can work on the same document simultaneously. All participants can see who made specific document changes and when they were made. Because documents are stored online and can also be stored on users' computers, they are always available. However, the Internet-based nature of Google Docs has given rise to concerns about security and privacy.
